Dr. Savvas Chamberlain, CEO Dalsa Inc.

- ◆ Distinguished Professor Emeritus, U of W ◆ Fellow of IEEE
- ◆ Ontario Entrepreneur of the Year ◆ Life Achievement Award by AIA
- ◆ Business Leader of the Year ◆ ITAC / NSERC Award

Dr. Chamberlain can be characterized as a scientist, academic, inventor and entrepreneur. He is CEO and Chairman of DALSA Inc., which he founded in 1980. He is a pioneer of CCD technology and MOSFET image sensors - core technology competencies from which DALSA's imaging products are based.

Dr. Chamberlain was born in Cyprus and after completing his Ph.D. in England, moved his family to Waterloo in 1969 to become assistant Professor of Electrical Engineering at U of W. In 1977 he was promoted to full Professor in the Electrical and Computer Engineering Department and continues his association with the university as Distinguished Professor Emeritus.

Dr. Chamberlain has written over 150 papers for refereed scientific journals, holds 20 patents and has contributed original research on fundamental theory in his field. He has been elected Fellow of the IEEE and awarded the ITAC / NSERC Award, as well as, the Ernst & Young 2003 Ontario Entrepreneur of The Year.

Combining academic and applied work in his career, Dr. Chamberlain has built DALSA into a world leader of image sensors and digital imaging cameras.

Dr. Chamberlain will share his views: "Despite Globalization there is a good future in Canada for Microelectronic Companies which have their own specialized Semiconductor Fab Mfg facility."
